Introduction

The Scottish Government is committed to eradicating violence against women and girls (VaWG). Equally Safe outlines the current strategic policy for the prevention and elimination of VaWG and all forms of gender-based violence (GBV).

The Equally Safe in Higher Education (ESHE) project was funded by the Scottish Government to implement Equally Safe in a pilot university and produce a National Toolkit for challenging GBV in Higher Education Institutes (HEIs). Research on staff and student attitudes to, and experiences of, GBV in higher education (HE) was a key work stream of the ESHE project.

The research workstream was implemented between 2016 and 2018 using the University of Strathclyde as the pilot site. The intention was to generate data on: views and perceptions of campus safety; attitudes to, and experiences of GBV; the impact of GBV; report and support pathways for victims/survivors; and broader issues of gender inequality and sexism in higher education.

The overall aim of the research methodology outlined in this Toolkit is to provide Scottish Higher Education Institutions with a means of creating an evidence base to inform the development of their GBV prevention strategies. The project utilised a mixed-methods approach consisting of an online campus-wide survey sent to all university staff and students as well as follow-up in-depth, semi-structured qualitative interviews and focus groups.
Purpose of the Research Toolkit

This Research Toolkit provides templates of key documents that may be useful to conduct the research workstream.

These documents are not intended to replace research training or to offer a knowledge base on GBV or VaWG but are offered as guidance to support the research and to be adapted to suit your needs and environment.

The tools were designed to facilitate the exploration of some key themes:

- Perceptions of safety on campus;
- The extent of GBV across a whole campus cohort;
- The impact on victims/survivors and the wider HE community;
- Support needs in terms of disclosure, reporting and help-seeking;
- Gendered practice, including gender (in)equality and diversity across the campus.

How to use this Toolkit

This Research Toolkit is organised into four sections:

1. Governance
2. Dissemination
3. Data Collection
4. Data Analysis & Management

In each of the sections there are a list of documents that may be useful for that stage of the research.

SECTION ONE
GOVERNANCE
Section One: Governance

Research governance was embedded into the project including a Research Advisory Group (RAG) that supported the project and the Strategy Group that guided the wider ESHE project.

The research project requires ethical and intuitional approval. Be prepared for both these stages to take considerable time.

1.1 RAG Terms of Reference

1.1 Equally Safe in Higher Education (ESHE) Research Advisory Group: Terms of Reference

Title

The Group shall be known as the Equally Safe in Higher Education (ESHE) Research Advisory Group.

Project

ESHE is a pilot project which will adopt a strategic approach to the development of resources aimed at the prevention and elimination of gender-based violence (GBV) at the University of [name]. [project details]. ESHE will support the implementation of Equally Safe, the Scottish Government’s national policy for the prevention and elimination of Violence against Women and Girls (VAW&G). The ESHE Project will generate new data on attitudes to and the extent of gender-based violence (GBV) on campus, develop a coordinated response to GBV and produce an Equally Safe Higher Education Toolkit for dissemination to other Scottish Higher Education institutions (HEIs). ESHE will adopt a partnership approach involving [name] University students, staff and their representatives and key external stakeholders to implement measures which closely reflect the twin themes of the Equally Safe approach – Prevention and Early Intervention.

ESHE will use the definition of gender-based violence (GBV) outlined in Equally Safe which recognises that it is broadly a function of gender inequality. While it is acknowledged that GBV mostly affects women and that men are the main perpetrators, it may impact individuals of any gender, sexual orientation, faith or ethnicity. GBV takes the form of actions that result in physical, sexual and psychological harm or suffering to women, children and young people, or affront to their human dignity, including threats of such acts, coercion or arbitrary deprivation of liberty, whether occurring in public or private life. These include:

- Domestic abuse
- Rape & sexual assault
- Child and childhood sexual abuse
- Stalking, sexual harassment and intimidation at work and in the public sphere
- Commercial sexual exploitation, including prostitution, pornography and trafficking
- Dowry-related violence
- Female genital mutilation (FGM)
- Forced and child marriages
- ‘Honour’-based or dowry-related crimes
Purpose
The purpose of the Group is to comment on the development and implementation of the research tools (questionnaire survey, interviews and focus groups). Specifically:

■ To share experiences and perspectives on gender based violence (GBV) so that the research team benefits from the wealth of experience that members of the advisory group bring.

■ To share research expertise so that the research team can benefit from the advice the advisory members can offer-in terms of developing methodologies, research tools and data analysis.

■ To comment on research design and data collection tools.

■ To read and comment on initial findings.

SECTION TWO
DISSEMINATION
Section Two: Dissemination

As the survey will be sent to all staff and students it is essential that it is has high visibility around the campus. We suggest that a range of formats are used and that the research team work with HR Corporate Communications and Marketing to support the dissemination of the survey.

We suggest including the following to devise a promotional plan and timeline to promote the research (remember to include the online link and research team contact details):

- Posters and other promotional materials including leaflets around the campus
- Fresher’s Fayre
- Plasma screens
- All staff email via Corporate Communications
- Staff weekly bulletins
- All student email from Student Services
- Student intranet notifications
- Hard copies of surveys and return envelopes distributed to staff bodies that do not regularly access email

Dear [Student/Colleague],

The Equally Safe in Higher Education (ESHE) Survey
Recent media reports have highlighted concerns about interpersonal safety issues across the Higher Education sector. The Equally Safe in Higher Education (ESHE) Project based in the School of Social Work and Social Policy is being funded by the Scottish Government to undertake research and to develop a national Higher Education Toolkit to address these issues in Scotland. The research involves collecting data from ALL staff and students in the University of Strathclyde. The data collected will help to develop our understanding of the issue and to create more effective responses and reporting mechanisms.

We cordially invite you to access our short on-line survey http://tiny.cc/ESHECampusSurvey

The survey is completely anonymous and all data is confidential.

For more information about the ESHE project please visit our webpage http://tiny.cc/EquallySafeHE or contact equallysafe@strath.ac.uk.

Thank you for your consideration.

The Equally Safe in Higher Education (ESHE) Survey
DEADLINE [date]

Recent media reports have highlighted concerns about interpersonal safety issues across the Higher Education sector. The Equally Safe in Higher Education (ESHE) Project, funded by the Scottish Government, is undertaking research to develop a national Higher Education Toolkit to address this. Strathclyde is the pilot institution and we are collecting views from all staff and students through our online survey.

All staff are invited to access the short survey online. Hard copies of the survey are available to collect from the reception area in the Lord Hope Building foyer. For more information, please visit the ESHE web page or contact us by email.
Take part in The Equally Safe in Higher Education (ESHE) Survey which involves collecting data from all staff and students at the University to develop a national Higher Education Toolkit to address interpersonal safety issues on Scotland’s university campuses.

Complete the online survey and take part in a confidential one-to-one interview (voluntarily)

SECTION THREE
DATA COLLECTION
Section Three: Data Collection

This section offers a range of supporting documents for conducting the research including the online survey that is distributed to all staff and students; interview protocol for participants who volunteer at the end of the survey; and protocol for focus groups that target pre-existing groups. It is crucial that the survey is anonymous and does not capture any names or IP addresses. This also means that it is impossible to link interview and focus group participants to their survey entries. However, it is essential that all interview and focus group participants complete a survey prior to their participation. It is also suggested that interviews and focus groups are restricted to an hour to fit into a standard lecture/class timeslot.

The Equally Safe in Higher Education Survey

Who are we?
We are a team of researchers based in the School of Social Work and Social Policy (HaSS). The research is funded by the Scottish Government and is part of a wider project. The Principal Investigator, Dr McCarron can be contacted: 0141 444 8755 / equallysafe@strath.ac.uk

What happens to the information?
The information gathered will be used to inform other support and development in this area. A summary of the anonymised findings will be made available to all Strathclyde University students and staff. We will write a report for the Scottish Government and other outputs (e.g. publications and presentations).

Why is the survey being conducted?
Recent media stories have highlighted the issue of interpersonal safety in Universities. This project aims to develop our understanding of the issue and to create more effective reporting and responses. The research is being conducted for the Scottish Government on behalf of the Scottish Higher Education (HE) sector and is a platform for future development which will result in a national HE Toolkit. This is why it is essential to get the views of all staff and students.

Who can access the information?
Only the research team will have access to the full data, which will be securely stored on the university server. At the end of the project, the data will be stored in the UK Data repository (www.data-archive.ac.uk). The University is registered with the Information Commissioner’s Office who implements the Data Protection Act 1998 and all data will be processed in accordance with this.

What else should I know?
The survey is completely anonymous and confidential and there is no way to identify who has filled it in. Some of the questions are sensitive and ask about personal experiences. At the end of the survey there is a link to some support services. Please also contact us with any questions: equallysafe@strath.ac.uk or 0141 444 8755.

What happens next?
Please click the consent form below to start the survey. Participation is voluntary and the survey is completely anonymous.
Thank you for your consideration.

This investigation was granted ethical approval by the University of Strathclyde Ethics Committee. If you have any questions/concerns, during or after the investigation, or wish to contact an independent person to whom any questions may be directed, or further information may be sought from, please contact: Secretary to the University Ethics Committee, Research & Knowledge Exchange Services, University of Strathclyde, Graham Hills Building, 50 George Street, Glasgow, G1 1QE | 0141 548 3707 | ethics@strath.ac.uk

Section 8: Gender Inequality at the University

These final questions ask about gender inequality at the University. Gender inequality is where people are treated differently and unequally based on their gender. This might refer to a difference in pay between men and women or an unequal distribution of men and women in different roles or at different levels.

FAQ and Debrief

Thank You for Taking Part

Your responses will help the University to develop more effective reporting and support mechanisms for those who may experience any of the behaviours discussed in the survey. A summary of the anonymised findings will be made available to all University students and staff.

There are a number of organisations that can offer advice and support if you have been affected by any of the issues discussed in the survey. Please click the link for details: http://tiny.cc/Support_Organisations

Please now click the » arrows below to submit your response.
3.2 Interview Participant Information Sheet and Consent Form

We are inviting you to take part in an interview to discuss your views and experiences of interpersonal safety issues. This is to supplement the data that was captured through the online Equally Safe in Higher Education survey. As the survey is completely anonymous it is impossible to match participants to their survey once it is submitted. Please take the time to read the following information.

Who we are?
We are a team of researchers based in the [name of Dept]. The research is funded by the [name of funders]. The Principal Investigator, [name] can be contacted: [details E&T]

What is the research being conducted?
Recent media stories have highlighted the issue of interpersonal safety in Universities. This project aims to develop our understanding of the issue and to create more effective reporting and responses. The research is being conducted and is a platform for future development which will result in a national HE Toolkit. That is why it is essential to get the views of all staff and students.

What will you do in the interview?
You will be invited to a private room in the University for an individual interview with one of the named researchers. The interview will last no more than 60 minutes and with permission, we will audio record the interview. We also offer the option of a telephone interview.

What else should I know?
The interview will expand on some of the sensitive issues raised in the survey. We will provide two information sheets. The first sheet has contact information for a range of relevant support services. The second is a Factsheet which offers information about the issues being discussed in the survey and interview. Whilst we aim to keep the interview confidential, if it is revealed that you or someone else is at risk of serious harm we have a duty of care to tell someone about this; this decision will made with you.

What happens to the information?
The information gathered will be used to inform other support and development in this area and a summary of the anonymised findings will be made available to all [name] University students and staff. We may use some of your words from the interviews in the report that we will write for the [report details] and other outputs (e.g. publications and presentations), but no names or identifying details will ever be used. You have up until seven days after the interview to withdraw and we will destroy the interview.

Who can access the information?
Only the research team will have access to the full data, which will be securely stored on the university server. The audio files will be destroyed once the interview has been transcribed, anonymised and checked. At the end of the project, the data will be archived in the UK Data Archive repository (www.data-archive.ac.uk). The University of [name] is registered with the Information Commissioner's Office who implements the Data Protection Act 1998 and all data will be processed in accordance with this.

What happens next?
Participation is entirely voluntary. If you would still like to take part, please read and complete the consent form. Thank you for your consideration.

Principal Investigator & Researcher contacts:
Details:

This investigation was granted ethical approval by the [name] University Ethics Committee. If you have any questions/concerns, during or after the investigation, or wish to contact an independent person to whom any questions may be directed or further information may be sought from, please contact: [contact details: address / telephone / email].
Consent Form – Equally Safe in Higher Education Interview

- I confirm that I have read and understood the information above.

- I understand that my participation is voluntary and that I am free to withdraw from the project at any time, without having to give a reason and without any consequences.

- I understand that I have up until seven days after the interview to contact the research team to exercise my right to withdraw and have my interview data removed and destroyed.

- I understand that the interview data will remain confidential.

- I understand that information which suggests that there is risk of serious harm to myself or other cannot be kept confidential and a joint decision will be taken regarding who to tell.

- I understand that my anonymised words may be used in reports and other publications including for our funder [name].

- I understand that the anonymised transcript of the interview will be stored at the [name] University and that on completion the data will be stored in the UK Data Archive repository.

- I consent to being a participant in the project.

- I consent to the interview being audio recorded as part of the project.

3.3 Interview Checklist

Opening: Thank you for agreeing to take part in this interview. I’d like to run through a couple of things with you before we start.

Consent: I’d just like to just double check that you have signed the consent form and are happy to participate in this research. Do you have any questions?

Anonymous: All the information will be anonymised. No identifying details will ever be used and you have until seven days after the interview to contact us to have the data removed and destroyed. We cannot match survey and interview responses.

Own pace: This interview is your opportunity to talk about your experiences and I want to reassure you that we will go at your pace and that you only need to talk about those things you are willing to share. If you would rather not answer any of my questions we can move on. Please let me know if at any time you want to take a break or stop the interview altogether.

Risk of serious harm: Whilst we aim to keep the interview confidential, if it is revealed that you or someone else is at risk of serious harm we have a duty of care to tell someone about this; this decision will be made with you.

Named disclosure: This is a research interview and my role is to interview you about those aspects of your experiences which you wish to share. If you do name someone currently within the university, whether student or staff, during the course of the interview, I will have to pass this information onto my manager/PI.

If you would like to report formally to the university or to the police for further action to be taken then I can provide information on how you can do so.

After the interview is over, I will also give you a list of services who would be happy to help you if you think that you would like some more specialist support for some of the experiences you have described. These include university based and external specialist services.

Winding down: Thank them for sharing their experiences and acknowledge how difficult it may have been for them and how much we value their contribution. Try to return the person to the present moment, chat about what they are going to be doing after this.

Risk and safety: If during the course of the interview the participant indicates to you that

■ They are afraid or in immediate danger;
■ That they are at risk of immediate harm from someone;
■ That they may harm themselves or someone else;

You should inform them that their safety and wellbeing is your priority. Here are some questions which it may be appropriate to ask:

■ What do you need to be safe when you leave here?
■ What have you done or considered in the past to keep safe?
■ Is there anyone you would like to contact right now?
■ What do you want to do?

Interviewer should have a list of emergency contact numbers which the person can call for immediate assistance.

Wait until the person has decided what to do. If they decide to do nothing and they have disclosed that they are at risk then tell them that it is your responsibility to report your concerns.
Interviewer safety: It is important that the place and time of the interview is known to an ESHE team member. The interview should take place during office hours wherever possible, in a university room where some degree of anonymity is possible for the person on arrival but where it is secure for all concerned and there are other people around. The interviewer should keep their mobile phone on hand on silent and if at any time feels uncomfortable, they should bring the interview to an end or if feeling unsafe, leave the room and call an ESHE team member.

- On the whole, do you feel that [University] is a safe campus? Why/Why not?
- Are there specific areas/places/spaces that you feel are less safe? Why?

  Prompt: risks, previous/negative experience, campus design, time of day, areas to avoid etc.
- What, if anything, could the University do to improve campus safety?

Experiences of, and attitudes to, GBV [Remind participants of confidentiality]
- In the survey we asked about a range of personal experiences and behaviours. Have you been affected by any of the behaviours discussed?
- Would you like to tell me any more about this?

- If no direct personal experience: Have you seen/heard of these behaviours happening to [Uni] staff/students?

Impact
- How did this incident/these experiences affect you?

  Prompt: Impact personal life/relationships/education/studies/work/health?
- Did it affect you change over time?

  Prompt: positive/negative over time? Long term impact? Is it still affecting you? In what ways?
- Has this experience/s changed your life? Your attitudes?

Disclosure and Reporting
- Did you tell anyone about this incident/these experiences?

- If it involved another student or staff member, did you tell someone at the University?
- Did you report it to the University?

  Prompt: Why/why not? Who in the University did you tell/report it to?
- How did that person/organisation respond?

  Prompt: Glad you told? Improve? Feel safer?
- Do you feel the University responded effectively?

  Prompt: What did you want them to do? Support provided? Recorded or taken into consideration in relation to work? For staff – did reporting/disclosing impact your career, working life and work relationships? (positive/negative)

Receiving disclosures:
- Has a staff/student ever told you about any of these behaviours happening to them?

  *Prompt: What did you do?
What would you do if a student/member of staff disclosed to you? (policies and processes?)

Do you think the University could improve reporting of incidents, support and helpseeking?

Prompt: In what ways? Know where and who to go to at the Uni to formally report/get help?

‘Lad culture’

- Have you ever heard of the term ‘lad culture’? What does it mean to you? (If no, use survey definition)
- Do you think there is a ‘lad culture’ at [Uni]?

Prompt: Evidence/examples? Certain areas/spaces/subjects/groups? Alcohol consumption/sexual experience as markers of masculinity? Can females participate in ‘lad culture’? Is ‘ladette culture’ the same? Impact: feminine/unfeminine? Do ‘lad cultures’ exist among staff as well as students?

Prompt: How? Sex, relationships, friendships, and peer groups/peer pressure.

Use of social media, is pornography, sexting, explicit images and texts a big part of student life?

Is ‘Lad Culture’ problematic?

Prompt: Is it something that [Uni] needs to challenge? What, if anything, could the University do?

Gender Inequality

- Do you think men and women are treated differently at [University]? Prompt: staff, students, work life?

Any other questions / comments?

- Commercial Sexual Exploitation, Forced Marriage, Intersectionality.
3.6 Focus Group Participant Information Sheet and Consent Form

We are inviting you to take part in a focus group to discuss your views and experiences of interpersonal safety issues. This is to supplement the data that was captured through the online Equally Safe in Higher Education survey. As the survey is completely anonymous it is impossible to match participants to their survey once it is submitted. Please take the time to read the following information.

Who we are?
We are a team of researchers based in the [name of dept.] The research is funded by the [name]. The Principal Investigator, [name] can be contacted: [tel and email].

What is the research being conducted?
Recent media stories have highlighted the issue of interpersonal safety in Universities. This project aims to develop our understanding of the issue and to create more effective reporting and responses. The research is being conducted for the Scottish Government on behalf of the Scottish Higher Education (HE) sector and is a platform for future development which will result in a national HE Toolkit. That is why it is essential to get the views of all staff and students.

What will you do in the focus group?
You will be invited to a private room in the University for a group interview with your peers, which will be led by two of the named researchers. The group will last no more than 60 minutes and with permission, we will audio record it.

What else should I know?
While we are not asking about personal experiences, the focus group will expand on some of the sensitive issues raised in the survey. We will provide two information sheets. The first sheet has contact information for a range of relevant support services. The second is a Factsheet which offers information about the issues being discussed. Whilst we aim to keep the focus group confidential, if it is revealed that you or someone else is at risk of serious harm we have a duty of care to tell someone about this; this decision will made with you.

What happens to the information?
The information gathered will be used to inform other support and development in this area and a summary of the anonymised findings will be made available to all [name] University students and staff. We may use some of your words from the interviews in the report that we will write for the [funders/name] other outputs (e.g. publications and presentations), but no names or identifying details will ever be used. You have up until seven days after the focus group to withdraw and we will destroy the interview, although in a group interview this is not always possible.

Who can access the information?
Only the research team will have access to the full data, which will be securely stored on the university server. The audio files will be destroyed once the focus group has been transcribed, anonymised and checked. At the end of the project, the data will be archived in the UK Data Archive repository (www.data-archive.ac.uk). The [name] University is registered with the Information Commissioner’s Office who implements the Data Protection Act 1998 and all data will be processed in accordance with this.

What happens next?
Participation is entirely voluntary. If you would still like to take part, please read and complete the consent form. Thank you for your consideration.

The legal definition of rape in Scotland
The Sexual Offences (Scotland) Act 2009 states that rape occurs when a person intentionally or recklessly penetrates another person’s vagina, anus or mouth with their penis, where the victim does not consent and the person responsible has no reasonable belief that the victim is giving consent. The victim can be male or female. 1 in 10 women and 2% of men in Scotland have experience rape. 1 in 5 women has had someone try to make them have sex against their will.

What does consent mean?
Consent is defined as free agreement. The law is clear that consent can be withdrawn at any time, and consent to one sexual act does not mean consent to a different act. Consent cannot be given when: someone is intoxicated or unconscious; someone is asleep; the person is mentally disabled; where false representation of identity; and consent cannot be coerced.

False rape allegations
A 2009 study across 11 European countries found only 4% of reported rapes or attempted rapes in Scotland are false. This is a similar % as the false reporting of any other crime. Many cases are marked as ‘no crimes’, meaning insufficient evidence was available to say it happened but doesn’t mean it didn’t and in the past these have often been counted as ‘false allegations’. In Scotland, all ‘no crimes’ are reviewed by the National Rape Task Force Rape Review Team.

Who commits rape?
In Scotland 92% of rapes are committed by known men, and often by someone who the survivor has previously trusted or even loved. Rapists can be friends, colleagues, clients, neighbours, family members, partners or exes. Stalking and Harassment Law Stalking is unwanted, focused behaviours carried out by one person, or persons, against another, causing fear and alarm.

It includes checking someone’s phone, social media history, monitoring their movements, following them, making threats towards them or people they care about. 2010 saw a new offence of Stalking in Scotland.

Stalking and Students
The NUS Hidden Marks survey of women students found 12% had been stalked whilst they were students at their current institution. Respondents reported the behaviour lasting from between a few weeks to a year or more. The longer the behaviour continued, the greater the impact in terms of their health, studies and relationships.

Physical harassment on campus
34% of respondents of the Hidden Marks survey said they had experienced one or more forms of physical harassment during their time as a student. Students were most likely to report that they have had their bottom groped, pinched or smacked in a students’ union or at a union event (9%) with 14% reporting this happening in and around their institution. 6% stated that their breasts have been touched without their consent in a students’ union, with 5% reported this happening to them in their institution. 16% had been subject to unwanted sexual contact (unwanted kissing, molesting or touching including through clothes) as a student.

Interpersonal Abuse (Domestic Abuse)
At least 1 in 5 women in Scotland will experience domestic violence in their lifetime. The 2011-12 statistics revealed that 81% of recorded domestic abuse incidents were violence against a woman committed by a man. The proportion of incidents with a male victim and female perpetrator has risen from 9% in 2002/3 to 17% in 2011/12. On average, two women a week in England and Wales are killed by a violent partner or ex-partner. This constitutes nearly 40% of all female homicide victims.

3.12 Disclosure Protocol

Explicitly state boundaries of interview and limits of confidentiality.

If discloses risk of serious harm explain duty of care to tell someone (explain that decisions will be made with participant).

Researcher to share with project lead/manager who will refer to disclosure pathway in GBV policy (see ESHE TOOLKIT for sample GBV policy).

If member of staff/student is named as perpetrator explain that this information will be passed on to project lead/manager. Refer to disclosure pathway in GBV policy.

Ensure safety measures in place for participant e.g. call friend/relative to pick them up.

Information on formal report procedures (to institution and/or police) given.

Information on support services given.

If participant is at immediate risk, give police number.
SECTION FOUR
DATA ANALYSIS AND MANAGEMENT
These documents offer guidance on how to store, label and manage the qualitative data after the interviews and focus groups have been conducted.

When coding the data we recommend considering the following:

- Anonymise transcripts and remove all identifying details.
- Upload anonymised transcripts onto software packages.
- Research team independently read and code (identify themes) in initial transcripts and establish a coding framework (thematic framework).
- Organise on software package.
- Code transcripts by theme using framework.
- Cross-code transcripts by members of the team.
- Identify key patterns and themes across the data, and within/between groups.
- Note key excerpts and any case studies.
- As multi-methods study both the quantitative and the qualitative data must be considered relationally.
