AHP LIFECURVE SURVEY

There is growing evidence of the key role of AHPs in improving health and wellbeing across all ages. For AHPs to support people in living healthy, active and independent lives, we need to have a better understanding of where our workforce is intervening as per the bespoke needs of the individual.

What we need from you? On a yet to be agreed date in April 2017 we will ask every AHP working in Adult Health and Social Care across Scotland to invite two service users, who are attending for an AHP intervention on that day, to complete the Lifecurve survey.

All information about the lifecurve survey can be found at http://www.knowledge.scot.nhs.uk/ahpcommunity/lifecurve-survey-2017.aspx

*Based on continuing research carried out at the Newcastle University institute for Ageing